Man - as the work of the gods - had a soul, which after the death of the body, continued to this sad, underground realm of the goddess Ereshkigal, the sister of Inanna (Ishtar).. An interesting concept of sin and punishment existed among people of Mesopotamia, but it only related to earthly life and therefore it could be prevented by confession, sacrifices and prayers.

Naram-Sin reigned after his uncle Rimush and his father Manishtusu, making him the fourth sovereign of the Dynasty. The Sumerian king list states that he reigned for thirty-six years, between 2254 and 2218 BC. Although no contemporary document confirms such a long reign, the Akkadian empire appears to have reached its height during this period.
